Loving the self is paramount in order to remember your sacred destiny, discover your true soul mission, and establish a healing environment for Earth and all her inhabitants.

Every human being houses a unique expression of Divinity. With so much attention given to the external world, many have abandoned self-love and lost the connection to their soul purpose.

The turbulent times we live in are both exhilarating and deafening, and the challenges humans face have not only personal implications but global impact, and, ultimately, cosmic consequences.

Marilyn teaches these empowering concepts and practical tools through keynote talks, 1-day workshops and weekend retreats.

She has presented nationally to health and healing practitioners, spiritual and New Age communities, and consciousness organizations.
